

The Department of Chemistry
Western University

invites you to

THE PAUL de MAYO AWARD LECTURE

Dr. Alex Gaiduk

The Institute for Molecular Engineering
University of Chicago

Computing water from first principles

Water in its various forms is one of the most important materials existing today. Despite extensive research, there are still many