

against noise induced auditory damage. Other issues including the therapeutically effective dose of NAC and appropriate dosage schedule need to be determined through large-the two groups, with more patients in the treatment group showing recovery ( $p=0.039$ ). Results indicated the greatest success in those with mod ability due to vitamin C and E deficiency and ren

