

Limitations: This paper is not available in English, which has made this work unknown to many top Canadian caregivers were provided with information prior to training. No rationale was given for this, and participants were then not split for statistical analysis. Both Done et al and Haberstroh et al have potential for recruitment bias as participants were recruited via self-inclusion. This

