Course Information

The aging mind examines the complexities of aging from both a physiological and mental health perspective. This course will examine both normal and abnormal

Method of Instruction

There is substantial evidence indicating passive learning is not the best approach for retention at the University level. To that end, students will work in learning teams to teach topics to their peers. To supplement this learning, some didactic and evidence-based teachings will also be included. This class will utilize many learning activities to enhance the course experience. Given the highly interactive nature of this course, students are expected to complete readings prior to participating in online modules.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

Multiple Choice Exams

Computermarked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating

Grading

A grading rubric is provided for each assignment in the assignments tab on OWL. A grading rubric provides consistent categories and weighting to aid in grading and in producing more robust grades both within a set of papers and between graders. It cannot and is not meant to replace the judgment of the individual grader. This is therefore a guideline for grading and not a strict marking scheme. Graders can, and frequently do, depart from the prescribed rubric when they feel it is academically justified.

Student Code of Conduct

The purpose of the Code of Student Conduct is to define the general standard of conduct expected of students registered at The University of Western Ontario, provide examples of behaviour that constitutes a breach of this standard of conduct, provide examples of sanctions that may be imposed, and set out the disciplinary procedures that the University will follow.

Attendance/Participation

Regular participation is expected and essential for students
