

SP 9505A Information and Research Methods, Alena Robin

This is a mandatory course for all graduate students in the Hispanic Studies Program. The course is organized around a series of practical topics to offer students a better understanding of the academic life and fundamental resources in the Graduate program. This course is designed to