

00

3. E A A E D A I G E

Article summary and commentary:	10%
o due January 26
Annotated bibliography:	20%
o due March 2
Abstract:	10%
o can be done individually or in a group of two or three (same mark for all in group)
o due March 16
Presentation:	20%
o can be done individually or in a group of two or three (same mark for all in group)
o In "mini-conference" format in class March 30
Final paper:	30%
o can be done individually or in a group of two or three (same mark for all in group)
o due April 30
Participation (activities on OWL site and in class):	10%

4. EE CHED EA DC E AE IA

Posted and updated on the course OWL site.

There is no textbook to purchase for this course. Material will be made available on the OWL site.

5. DEAD I E F B I I FA I G E

D :
All work in graduate courses must be submitted by the deadline set by the instructor. "Incompletes" will not be permitted without medical documentation. In order to continue to receive financial support from the School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies, each student must demonstrate satisfactory progression in their program. Regulations are available upon request from Mirela Parau in the

6. D C E F A

F A :

The preferred means for submission of written work in the course is as a word processing file (Microsoft Word) sent to the instructor via the OWL site on the Assignments page. This saves paper resources and

: Assignments may be subject to submission for

10. E EA CHE HIC

For your Research Paper, you may wish to do an empirical study of data you gather from human when reporting on the results of your study. Any data you have allowing participants to be identified should be encrypted and destroyed when it is no longer needed.

- g) Please note the following important note in the Guidelines regarding risk: "The research projects must be no more than