DESCRIPTION

This course is focused on understanding and engaging the arguments that scholars have made about death. The specific arguments we consider attempt to answer the following questions: What does it mean to say that a person is dead? What, if anything, survives beyond death? Is death bad? Conversely, is immortality good? Are there any circumstances in which it is morally permissible to bring about the death of another and if so, why?

AUDIT

Students wishing to audit the course should consult with the instructor prior to or during the first week of classes.

COURSE POLICIES

1. Submission of essays:

You will need to submit an electronic copy of your two essays to OWL.

In order to submit your assignment electronically, simply visit the OWL site for this course. On the left-hand navigation menu you will find the 'Assignment' tool. Click on this tool and you will find the assignment guidelines and instructions for submitting your assignment. To submit your assignment upload it and click on the submit button at the bottom of the page.

2. Extensions:

If you fail to meet the submission dates for the two essays, extensions may be granted only as a result of a petition to the Academic Counselor of the student's faculty (barring a student's use of the 48 hour 'Self-Reported Absence Form', outlined below). Instructors have no authority to waive this requirement, and any unofficial arrangements they make with students will not be respected by the administration.
